

RENO♥ATION

20th September 2009

Some questions to ask yourself as you process tonight's Deeper

1. Do I feel as though I've been dwelling in a foreign land? Exiled? What are the circumstances that have caused this feeling? What does this feel like? Take some time to talk with God about these circumstances, to tell him how you feel.
2. In what ways is my heart currently hardened to the love of God?
3. Is there some way that God is using my circumstances to soften my heart? Take some time to ask this question of God, stop and listen to God's answer to you.

This may be a frustrating time. You may feel resistance to what he speaks, or you may not hear anything at all just now. Keep your eyes and ears open throughout the next week for God to answer these questions in his time.

If you found these questions helpful, subscribe to our blog at <http://deeper.wordpress.com/> where we'll be posting more questions and reflections over the course of this series.

RENO♥ATION

20th September 2009

Some questions to ask yourself as you process tonight's Deeper

1. Do I feel as though I've been dwelling in a foreign land? Exiled? What are the circumstances that have caused this feeling? What does this feel like? Take some time to talk with God about these circumstances, to tell him how you feel.
2. In what ways is my heart currently hardened to the love of God?
3. Is there some way that God is using my circumstances to soften my heart? Take some time to ask this question of God, stop and listen to God's answer to you.

This may be a frustrating time. You may feel resistance to what he speaks, or you may not hear anything at all just now. Keep your eyes and ears open throughout the next week for God to answer these questions in his time.

If you found these questions helpful, subscribe to our blog at <http://deeper.wordpress.com/> where we'll be posting more questions and reflections over the course of this series.

RENO♥ATION

20th September 2009

Some questions to ask yourself as you process tonight's Deeper

1. Do I feel as though I've been dwelling in a foreign land? Exiled? What are the circumstances that have caused this feeling? What does this feel like? Take some time to talk with God about these circumstances, to tell him how you feel.
2. In what ways is my heart currently hardened to the love of God?
3. Is there some way that God is using my circumstances to soften my heart? Take some time to ask this question of God, stop and listen to God's answer to you.

This may be a frustrating time. You may feel resistance to what he speaks, or you may not hear anything at all just now. Keep your eyes and ears open throughout the next week for God to answer these questions in his time.

If you found these questions helpful, subscribe to our blog at <http://deeper.wordpress.com/> where we'll be posting more questions and reflections over the course of this series.

RENO♥ATION

20th September 2009

Some questions to ask yourself as you process tonight's Deeper

1. Do I feel as though I've been dwelling in a foreign land? Exiled? What are the circumstances that have caused this feeling? What does this feel like? Take some time to talk with God about these circumstances, to tell him how you feel.
2. In what ways is my heart currently hardened to the love of God?
3. Is there some way that God is using my circumstances to soften my heart? Take some time to ask this question of God, stop and listen to God's answer to you.

This may be a frustrating time. You may feel resistance to what he speaks, or you may not hear anything at all just now. Keep your eyes and ears open throughout the next week for God to answer these questions in his time.

If you found these questions helpful, subscribe to our blog at <http://deeper.wordpress.com/> where we'll be posting more questions and reflections over the course of this series.